C., E.

1814 E. C. [The small stone so marked is immediately adjacent to the handsome tomb of Judge John Coalter.]

Coalter, John

“This stone is erected in Memory of JOHN COALTER of Chatham. Of humble origin, he rose to eminence Less by the display of uncommon talents than by moral worth. By an integrity that none ever questioned. A fidelity that evaded no duty. A firmness that defied a like temptation and danger. And a sincerity simplicity and kindness of nature That won the hearts of all who approached him. The records of his country testify the honourable posts which he filled. Of his private virtues all who knew him can speak. But the Depth of his unpretending goodness is known only to God whom he worshipped in the secret of his own heart. While in every act of his life he served him openly. To him who gave it the Spirit has returned. The dust lies here. His children have placed this Stone To record his virtues to his children’s children. He was born in Rockbridge, Virga Aug, 20th 1769 And died at Chatham, near this place Feb. 2nd 1838. Touching this spot lie the Remains of St. George Tucker Coalter, Esq only son of John Coalter, who followed his Father to the grave before this tomb was completed. He died August 19, 1839, Aged 30 years 2 Months and 7 Days. A son worthy of such a father.”

God. Her rest  was the fruit of her faith and she died in hope because she had lived a Christian.” [Stone disintegrating. (*) The Historical Sketch of 1892
gives 1827 as the date of her death; the “7” is now entirely gone. Several other words could not be positively deciphered.]

R., G. and R., N.

“G. R. 1807 N. R. 1802”
[These letters and figures
appear on a large stone adjacent to that of Charles

Rothrock. The Historical Sketch of 1892 suggests that the headstone was broken during the War.]

Richardson, George

“Sacred to the memory of GEORGE RICHARDSON STONE CUTTER who was killed by an accident May 12th 1807: Aged 45 years. Stay, passenger, thy step; reflect awhile; Tho now in health and vigour thou may smile Tomorrows fun thy obsequies may see The silent grave may then thy mansion be.
